Category:Video game enginesImaging of eosinophilic myositis: a case report. We report a case of eosinophilic myositis that presented with focal myositis of the deltoid muscle. Although the lesion was characteristic and different from other myositis, eosinophilic myositis was the only diagnosis. It is important to recognize this condition because of its response to corticosteroids. The literature is reviewed, and the usefulness of different imaging techniques in the evaluation and follow-up of this condition is discussed.Q. Best way to send data from one thread to another in Java? I have my own class which I can call some functions in it from the main thread. How would I go about sending some data from the main thread to the class I defined? (it is a message type thing, so maybe an enums or a string). Would I just create a pointer to the class instance and store the data into the class' fields? Thanks in advance A: you will need to use some form of object communication, either serialization, socket communications, or perhaps even pass it as an argument to a method.
