I've tried using a conditional statement, but I'm struggling to get the syntax correct. The code is meant to remove an attribute from the list when the string "East" is found in position 1 of the list. Here's my code so far:

def Change_All_East(self):
    for x in self.attributes:
        if self.attributes == "East":
            x = ""

 I get the error message : `AttributeError: 'list' object has no attribute 'attributes'` I'm new to python, and am still learning the language. A: You have to break your loop, as it's not an iterable and you can
