If you can get the pdf to open or download easily please show me how. Thanks a lot! A: Maybe this helps The problem is to open the pdf with your browser. If you have some Firefox extension, I've no idea. So you need to use a different (maybe simpler) browser for downloading. If you're on Windows, I'd recommend Chrome. Just try that, and if it works, it can be a solution. Kate McGrath Kathryn McGrath (born 10 February 1963) is a former New Zealand netball player. She played in the ANZ Championship for the Southern Steel and the Waikato Bay of Plenty Magic. She is notable for representing New Zealand in netball at the 1996, 1998 and 2000 Netball World Championships. She represented New Zealand for the 1993 and

One housewife, who chose to remain anonymous, told Newshub the effort it took to get a man to turn off the hot water before taking a shower because the price of gas had doubled last year. “I’m paying $3,000 extra a year for a hot shower because of the climate change,” she said. “It’s crazy. What it’s doing to our economy is insane.” Another woman who lives in Nelson said the temperature was up about seven degrees. “We don’t have air-conditioning,” she said. “You can’t go into a shop and buy an ice cream or a hot cake without paying 20 per cent more than a few years ago.” Nelson couple Kenny Waller and Angela Benavides said they were already spending about $500 a year more than before the climate-change extravaganza – and there was no sign of it letting up. A report from the University of New England in Australia released last month ranked New Zealand 12th among countries for summer temperatures and heatwaves from 1961 to 2010. As damaging as climate change was to New Zealand’s lifestyle, the country “cannot afford” to continue down a path of “extreme weather”, the report concluded. Newshub confirmed it had emailed the original story but declined to comment further. It was only as a late comment on the story that the network told GlobalPost that, instead of using a ba244e880a
