Create your own window management utility! Your window management utilities won't need to be hosted on a remote server any longer! Endless lists are no fun, and it's really frustrating to find windows you need. Luckily, that's exactly what Wherzit is about! Each window on your desktop will now be in a list, easily accessible through the new sidebar. Just toggle the sidebar to minimize, and open the currently needed windows with a single mouse click! In the main body of the application there are several controls which help you find the windows you need. Toggle buttons let you show or minimize the currently selected window, a set of controls help you find windows by title or class, and a search option lets you search through the currently opened windows to find the one you want. Wherzit Features: Generated CSS and Javascript Window management utility for Windows! Keep windows on your desktop to make them easier to find. Toggle sidebar to minimize the application, or switch to full view for direct access. Get to your windows fast with the sidebar on your side! Discover the sidebar to get to your windows without having to toggle into minimized view! Find windows by title or class using the sidebar, or directly into the interface. Open, close, or minimize windows in just one click. Search the window list for the needed window! Close unneeded windows to reclaim space! Ability to add custom columns for easier window identification. Toggle to full view to save screen space. Portable application for Windows! No need for installing additional software, simply run the executable file to get started! Fully localized to your language! Comes with a few predefined columns to make it easier to browse the list. The option to create your own columns allows you to make it easier for yourself. Uninstaller included! Uninstall the application without any issues or hassles! I would greatly appreciate to hear your comments, suggestions and ideas! The Power of Remote Backups Your work, personal, or both, is valuable and is a good asset, and so is your knowledge and skills. However, who would be responsible if some disasters happen with your computer, or if you lose your laptop? If you are not in the business of cyber security, you might be surprised by the number of people who are not too cautious when it comes to their data. It's not
